

Community Forum

Send News

Blogs

A/V Media

Subscribe

Calendar

Homes

Jobs

Cars

News Search

Web Search

Classified Search

Advertising

Home Delivery

Reader Services

Traffic

Stocks

Weather

Home

News

Sports

Business

Opinion

Entertainment

Features

Community

Marketplace

Search The News

Last modified Saturday, April 14, 2007 9:29 PM PDT

Search Our Ads

Email this story

Print this story

Comment On This Story

TEXT SIZE

Comment in our Blog

☞ School scores worse than they appear

By: Allen Hemphill - For the North County Times

The annual Academic Performance Index, or API, is released each year and trumpeted loudly, but other than parents glancing at the rating of each school in which they have a child enrolled, nothing much happens.

The administration of each school district places the best possible spin on the results, the media dutifully report the numbers and the spin, and the subject rapidly fades away.

The results do not go away, of course. People who are seeking a better school for their children look at the results all year long, and many make home-buying decisions based on the numbers.

That is why the Poway Unified School District is both high in scores, and relatively immune to the current housing market decline. It would be a huge exaggeration to say that the Poway Unified School District is a great school district, or even the best in San Diego County. But it is the best school district in which people of moderate means can afford to buy a home.

PUSD is a good California school district, academically, athletically, and in other ways ---- it has great bands. Considering the cost of housing in better school districts, PUSD is a school district worth considering.

Here is what the media are not telling you.

More News

- National Guard to begin reducing border force
- Wireless technology for doctors demonstrated in La Jolla
- Upstart company sells 'Coffee with a Cause'
- Escondido cell phone towers getting 'stealthy'
- Oceanside art museum reaches fundraising goal
- Encinitas group

The North County Times welcomes submissions to the Community Forum that are:

* no more than 500 words;

* are explicitly local to North San Diego County. Discussions of national or international issues are welcome ONLY if you make a significant, explicit connection to North San Diego County in the text of your essay.

* e-mailed to opinion@nctimes.com as text pasted in the body of an e-mail. Other acceptable but less desirable means of submission include: mail to Community Forum, Opinion desk, North County Times, 207 E. Pennsylvania Ave., Escondido, CA

The caveat to all of this puffing is that the API scores for a given school are relative to other California schools, so all of the measurement is against a degraded standard. Being in the top California schools is like being the Best Dressed Man in Big Foot, Texas ---- there just ain't much competition.

California ranks so low nationally that our "best" is none too good, and, in fact, pathetic. I checked the federally produced National Report Card, the only national test of students. Using the latest available data (2005), here is where California stands:

1. In reading, of the 52 states and entities tested, including the District of Columbia, California ranks No. 50 out of 52!
2. In writing, of the 43 states and entities tested, including the District of Columbia, California ranks No. 33 out of 43!
3. In math, of the 52 states and entities tested, including the District of Columbia, California ranks No. 46 out of 52.
4. In science, of the 45 states and entities tested, including the District of Columbia, California ranks No. 44 out of 45!

The chant "We're Number 50!" just does not have a great rhetorical ring to it. But these numbers are not researched and reported nearly so widely as the API, because California students look pretty good when compared only against other poorly educated students.

It is not an onerous problem for anyone to find this information. Are you wondering why everyone doesn't know the facts about school ratings? Obviously, it is not in the best interest of the schools, or the teachers, or even the embarrassed state of California, to feature this data. Most parents have no idea that California schools are so bad, so it is first necessary to give them some facts.

These are the facts.

-- Allen Hemphill lives in Hidden Meadows, an unincorporated community north of Escondido.

• Previous Story:

• Next Story:

Click here for daily newspaper delivery

Click here for daily online news alerts

Click here to send a Letter to the Editor

Click here to send an Announcement

92025; and FAX to (760) 745-3769.

All entries must be accompanied by a phone number which we will call before publishing the submission. Also, send a brief biographical sketch of the author, including any information about you that relates to the subject discussed in your submission. The biographical information won't count against the 500-word limit.

We reserve the right to publish or not publish any submissions to the Community Forum.

demands report on environmental progress

• Sewer breaks could delay future projects in Vista

• Vista school district works to increase parental involvement

• Agency says black abalone may need protection

• Can the Storm save The Diamond?

• Jeffries draws tentative praise in district

• Block Party, Y2, D2: Three-day event continues today

• Officials want to restrict vendors

...more news

Arts & Entertainment Magazine

Comments On This Story

News Update